

Share Your Education

Education is a core criterion on LinkedIn, so completing this field is important. By adding your school, you enable your classmates and alumni to easily find you. If you're a recent grad, you can also include any clubs you were a part of, extracurricular activities, educational feats, volunteer & internship experience and much more.

To add details about your education to your LinkedIn profile, click the + sign in the upper right of the education section.

In the dialog box that appears, enter details about your school, degree, studies, and activities. You can even add media - links to external documents, photos, sites, videos, and presentations.

#21DayChallenge - Day 5

#ProTip: Unfortunately, we work in an environment where there is discrimination. For example, due to ageism, you might be advised to not broadcast the year you graduated from college (which is a dead giveaway of how old you are). To remove it just scroll up and click “year” and then hit “save”.

Edit education
✕

Degree

Field of study

Start Year

End Year (or expected)

Reordering education entries

1. Click the  Me icon at the top of your LinkedIn homepage.
2. Click View profile.
3. Move your cursor over the education entry you'd like to rearrange.
4. Click and hold the  Reorder icon to the right of your school name and drag it to the desired position. Note the reorder icon is not visible until you place your mouse under the pencil icon. Also, the first entry listed in the Education section appears in the top section of your profile.

Education +

Boston University
MS, Administration, Concentration in Technology & Innovation

Boston University
BS, Computer Engineering
Activities and Societies: National Society of Black Engineers (NSBE) Society of Women Engineers (SWE)

To Reorder

